

Amphithéâtre Liard

The Sorbonne University in Paris is a renowned institution of higher education with a rich history dating back to the 13th century. Among its many impressive spaces is the stunning “Amphithéâtre Liard”, a well renowned, classical and richly decorated amphitheatre located at 17 Rue de la Sorbonne. It is one of the most beautiful and historic space that is sure to impress anyone who visits. Those who have the opportunity to attend an event in this magnificent space, will be treated to an unforgettable experience. The “Amphithéâtre Liard” is a true gem of the Sorbonne University, and a testament to the institution's commitment to excellence in education and culture.

It is important to note that entry to the Amphithéâtre Liard requires a presence on a list of names and an invitation card. However, if you have the opportunity to attend an event in this magnificent space, you will be treated to an unforgettable experience. The Amphithéâtre Liard is a true gem of the Sorbonne University, and a testament to the institution's commitment to excellence in education and culture.

Honoré de Balzac

Honoré de Balzac, a French writer, is widely recognized as one of the founders of realism movement in European fiction. His passion for writing truly defined his life, making him one of the most popular and influential European writers of the nineteenth century.

His immense body of work, collectively known as "La Comédie humaine" (The Human Comedy), provided a contemporary comprehensive portrayal of French society.

Balzac's ability to observe and empathize with others, combined with his dedication to portraying the lives of common people, cemented his legacy as a literary giant.

The Maison de Balzac

The Maison de Balzac, is the writer's house museum located in the 16th arrondissement of Paris. It is located at 47, rue Raynouard, Paris, France. The house was acquired by the city of Paris in 1949 and is now one of the city's three literary museums. The Maison de Balzac is a hidden gem in the Auteuil area of Paris.

The Maison de Balzac is a must-visit destination for literature lovers and anyone interested in French history and culture. It offer the opportunity to jump in the historic life of a prolific writer.